TRULY TERRIBLE TIME

Celebration of Easter Monday Has Tragic Termination.

TRIO OF MEN KILLED

Miners Wreck a House in Which a Deputy Sheriff Sought Refuge and Tried to Rescue Comrades From Jail.

Johnstown, Pa., April 17.—Three men were shot, a boy fatally injured and a mining engineer, Eugene Delaney, taken to the hospital in a serious condition as a result of a riot at Windber among the striking coal miners Monday night. The place is in a state of terror, Sheriff Begeley being summoned, and an appeal has been made to Governor Pennypacker for troops. Several of the rioters sustained slight injuries. The dead men and most of the injured are foreigners, and their names cannot be obtained. The bodies were lying in the street Monday night where they fell, the strikers refusing to allow the undertakers to remove them.

The foreign element had been celebrating Easter Monday in the mining section, and much liquor had been used. The streets were thronged all day with a boisterous crowd, but no sign of trouble appeared until night. A body of strikers was assembled in front of the Windber jail, discussing a mass meeting which would be held during the afternoon. The discussion grew into argument, and soon there was a free for all fight.

Deputies that had been sworn in for the strike in the coal mines when first inaugurated made their appearance. All of the arrested men were union men, and their colleagues set up a cry that they were being discriminated against, and were imposed upon. The arrested men were marched to the lockup, but there a mob had been formed, and an attempt was made to take the men from the officers. Forced back from the jail door, the mob growing more violent every minute, threatened the deputies until the officers fired. The mob, apparently not expecting the deputies would resort to firearms, fled.

When the smoke cleared away and the victims shot were viewed by the crowd there were cries of anger, and soon members of the mob armed returned the shots of the deputies. The firing ceased almost as soon as it began, however, and the crowd fled away from the jail.

An eye witness of the riot, in describing the affair, said trouble started at 5 o'clock, when Deputy Sheriff McMullen went to the mass meeting held by the striking miners in a wood at the edge of town. Many of the miners had been drinking, and the sight of the deputy made them furious.

The officer was quickly surrounded by miners, who threatened to kill him. McMullen fled for his life, finding a refuge in the house of Councilman Charles Davis. Soon after McMullen had entered the Davis house it was surrounded by a mob of 2,000 shouting, cursing miners.

When McMullen failed to appear, the mob attacked the house and literally wrecked it. The deputy sheriff was roughly handled, but managed to escape. The members of the Davis family fled to the homes of neighbors for shelter. Other deputies who had been on duty guarding the property of the coal company had been notified of the trouble by this time, and twenty of the rioters were landed in the lockup at Windsor.

The mob, headed by Paul Zillis, then planned an assault on the jail with the purpose of releasing the prisoners. A great crowd of the strikers, with Zillis at their head, marched to center of the town and prepared to storm the jail. The deputy sheriffs fixed their bayonets to their rifles and surrounded the jail to keep it from the mob's possession if possible. At a signal the mob began to close in on the jail, shouting to the deputies to throw away their guns and give up the prisoners. The officers first tried to keep back the mob with bayonets, but the effort was ineffectual, and when it became certain that the little band of deputies and firemen could not stand before the howling, infuriated men they opened fire. The foreigners who were closest to the jail had already begun using their knives in an attempt to disarm the deputies, while others flourished revolvers. The deputies fired but one volley, and the foreigners broke and fled in wild disorder, leaving three of their number dead in front of the jail. The wounded who were able to walk were hurried to their homes, while an ambulance took the more seriously hurt to the Windber hospital.

At a mass meeting Monday afternoon the men decided to return to work on the operators' terms when Deputy Mullen appeared.

Tries to Choke Himself.

Fort Smith, Ark., April 17.—H. O. Magill of Texarkana, Ark., arrested here on a charge of forging the name of his brother-in-law, M. C. Ward, a business man of Texarkana, to checks, tried to choke himself to death with a handkerchief in the city jail.

FLAGS ARE REMOVED

People Thought One of the Imperial Family Had Died.

AN ARRANT COWARD

Acquitted of Assaulting a Condemned Woman, Wishes He Had Shot Her and Willing to Hang the Young Lady.

St. Petersburg, April 17.—The remarkable action of the police Monday in suddenly ordering flags hung out for Easter holidays to be taken in caused the circulation of the wildest rumors of the murder of a member of the imperial family. Tuesday comes the rather amusing explanation that under the law flags and illuminations are not permitted without authority of the perfect of police, it being equivalent to a command and householders failing to decorate fined. The prefect granted permission to decorate as usual, but he failed to include the display of flags, and the police, proceeding on the old theory, that what is not permitted is prohibited, went from house to house, compelling the occupants to take down flags. Immediately reports spread that some great catastrophe had occurred at Tsarskoe Selo and the announcement was being withheld until after the holidays.

Three hundred political prisoners have just been deported to Siberia by way of Moscow and Borisoglebsk.

M. Abramoff, who was acquitted by the military authorities of Moscow on a charge of assaulting Mlle. Spiridonova, who was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment for shooting Chief of Secret Police Luzbenofsky at Tamboff, upon his return here became exceedingly arrogant, declaring he was sorry he had not shot her as then the story would not have been published. He boasted that he would like to hang Mlle. Spiridonova with his own hands.

GORKY'S RECEPTION.

It Seems to Be Giving Russians Considerable Concern.

St. Petersburg, April 17.—Maxim Gorky's reception in the United States is giving the Russian government considerable concern. A high official here made the following statement:

"In listening to Gorky the American people should understand that he is not a Liberal, not a reformer, but a revolutionist pure and simple. He certainly is a writer of talent, perhaps even genius, and much he says regarding conditions in Russia is doubtless true, but it will be clear that his object is not reform, but revolution. Mme. Andreieva, who accompanies him, is not his wife. She is also a revolutionist, and M. Morosoff, one of Moscow's merchant princes, gave her $1,500,000 for the revolution cause. When the government last summer secured proof of this fact he was given twenty-four hours to leave Russia or stand trial here. He fled to Paris, where he committed suicide."

M. Morosoff of Moscow, who was known as the "Russian Cotton King," was prominent in the Liberal movement this year, and it is possible is the person alluded to in the foregoing statement, although no information of his expulsion from Russia or his subsequent suicide in Paris has reached this country.

FEELING STILL TENSE.

Militia All Monday Night Camped About the County Prison.

Springfield, Mo., April 17.—Suppressed excitement pervaded all classes here on the opening of the fourth day of Springfield's race war. The arrests late Monday of a half a dozen men accused of complicity in Saturday night's lynching had the effect of clearing the streets when the members of the mob who openly boasted of their participation in the affair began to realize the state and county officials had really combined in an effort to prosecute all offenders. They had again been inflamed with the mob spirit when it became generally known that another negro had been killed, this time by a white boy in self-defense. This tense feeling was still apparent when morning came. Sheriff Horner early Tuesday sent out a dozen deputies armed with twenty or so warrants still unserved, while in the criminal court the selection of a grand jury, called together under instructions to indict the mob leaders, begun.

Monday night, the militia camped about the jail, nearly a mile from the public square, in the center of the city, and Tuesday to these points soldiers were especially prominent.

Insurance Legislation Urged.

Washington, April 17.—President Roosevelt transmitted to congress a message relating to insurance legislation. The president urged the enactment of a measure, as he declares, "we are not to be pardoned if we fail to take every step in our power to prevent the possibility of the repetition of such scandals as those that have occurred in connection with insurance business as developed by recent investigations."

SMITH'S SUCCESSOR.

Informing Saints That Revelation Said It Is His Son.

Kansas City, April 17.—Joseph Smith, president of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, rewarded his followers for fasting and prayer by giving to the conference of the church in session at Independence a revelation which appoints his son, Frederick M. Smith, to be his successor in the event of his death. This is considered the most important message ever given to the church, as nothing in the annals of it has been considered so vital as the question as to who would succeed to the presidency. For a time it looked as though the revelation would create a chasm in the church, as it is believed by some that the revelation of April, 1902, conflicted with the present message as to President Smith's successor, but after some discussion the revelation was adopted unanimously. President Smith soon afterward entered the church, followed by his son.

TERMS PROPOSED.

Who Shall Control Property to Be Submitted to Arbitration.

Chicago, April 17.—General Overseer Voliva and his followers have thrown down the gauntlet to John Alexander Dowle. Through their attorney, Jacob Newman, the following terms have been proposed:

"You are to agree on a committee of four or eight, by which this entire matter is to be settled. Two members of the committee shall be appointed by advocates of Dowle, while two shall represent Voliva. In case that the committee shall constitute eight members each side shall have the appointment of four. Should there be a disagreement in either case, a fifth or a ninth committeeman shall be appointed by Voliva. It is further provided that all property belonging to the Christian Catholic church shall be transferred to this board of arbitration, and that their judgment as to whether Voliva or Dowle shall control the same will be final."

DECLARED IN CONTEMPT.

Lewis Given Five Days to Dismiss Suits or Go to Jail.

Springfield, Ill., April 17.—Judge Humphrey in the United States court declared Colonel James Hamilton Lewis, corporation counsel of Chicago, in contempt of court, and sentenced Lewis to sixty days' imprisonment in the Sangamon county jail. The sentence is to be remitted if Colonel Lewis, within the next five days, dismisses suits which he brought in the Madison county circuit court in behalf of the Boston (Mass.) Water and Light company against the Alton Waterworks company and others to foreclose on second mortgage bonds.

ALFONSO ARRIVES.

King of Spain Gone on a Visit to His Affianced Wife.

Battleground, Cowes, April 17.—King Alfonso of Spain arrived here. He was met some miles out of the city by Princess Ena of Battenburg and her mother, who boarded the Spanish royal yacht Giralda. The king and princess shortly landed and drove to Osborne. The young couple were warmly greeted by crowds of people. King Alfonso has personally appealed to the newspaper men to permit him to enjoy his visit to his bride-elect without being subjected to any annoyances.

ANOTHER DEATH.

Ten Sailors Injured by Explosion Are in Serious Condition.

Guantanamo, Cuba, April 17.—Another officer, according to reports here, died as the result of the explosion April 13 on board the battleship Kearsarge. Ten sailors who were injured at the time of the explosion are believed to be in a serious condition. The cruiser Maryland is conveying northward the remains of Lieutenant Graeme. A message from Secretary Bonaparte expressing sympathy with the sufferers of the Kearsarge has been received here and communicated to the crew of the ship.

ON ROLLER SKATES.

Duluth Man Succeeds in Thus Looping the Loop.

Duluth, Minn., April 17.—After two years of hard work George Probb of this city has succeeded in looping the loop on roller skates. Probb has been seriously hurt on several occasions, but persisted until success crowned his efforts. He also leaps a twenty-three-foot gap after coming down an eighty-foot incline. He uses skates with ten-inch wheels and weighing twenty-seven pounds.

VERY VOLUMINOUS.

Such Was the Opinion of Judge Smith in Davis Case.

Cincinnati, April 17.—The case of Thomas J. Davis, cashier of the First National bank of this city, whose refusal to appear as a witness before the Drake committee, led to his arrest in a sensational manner, was followed by service of a writ of habeas corpus and bringing the prisoner before the common pleas court for a hearing. The opinion rendered by Judge Smith was very voluminous.

No Change in Strike.

Mobile, April 17.—The strike of linemen, spicers and other employees of the Bell Telephone company here remains unchanged. The men remain firm. The company has not succeeded in getting any men to take the places of the strikers.

House Bill Substituted.

Washington, April 17.—By a vote of 172 to 27 the house national quarantine bill was substituted for the senate bill. The bill now will go to conference.

No Authority to Investigate.

Cincinnati, April 17.—The state senate has no authority to authorize an investigation of the public offices in Cincinnati and Hamilton county, as carried on by the Drake committee, according to a decision filed by the common pleas court in this city Tuesday.

COURSE COMMENDED.

R. B. Paddock Says Springfield Mob Did Exactly Right.

St. Louis, April 17.—During the meeting of commercial clubs Monday a resolution condemning the lynching at Springfield was introduced, but tabled.

R. B. Paddock of Fort Worth, who made the motion tabling the resolution, said: "Mr. Chairman, I move to table that resolution. The people of Springfield did just exactly right. They ought to do more like it. They can't make the fire too hot to suit me. This Springfield matter is purely a local matter. The commercial convention has nothing to do with it. We came here to benefit the southwest with discussions, resolutions and ideas, not for political gain or to further the ends of any one politician. I do not ordinarily favor mob law, but I will tell you, whenever they lay a hand on a woman, burn them."

DIABOLICAL DEED.

Mexican Knocks Down Two Sisters of Mercy at Laredo.

Laredo, April 17.—A Mexican struck two Sisters of Mercy at the Mercy hospital, knocking them down. An Irishman named James W. Sullivan, whose wife is being treated at the hospital, happened to have remained all night in attendance upon her. He sprang out and seized the Mexican from behind and pinioned both his arms to his body and held him securely until the police responded to the telephone call and took him to jail.

SOLDIER SLAIN.

Killing Brought About by a Quarrel Over a Debt.

El Paso, April 17.—As a result of a quarrel over a debt, Murray Norris, colored, a member of Company E, Twenty-fifth infantry, stationed at Fort Bliss, was shot and killed in a saloon near the post. Alexander Johnson, a member of the same company, was also shot, but the wound is not serious. Johnson is under arrest.

Bullet Penetrates Heart.

Dallas, April 17.—W. E. Cotton was found in the last throes of death with a bullet from a pistol, the weapon beside him, in his heart. He soon died. His brother was dosing beside him when awakened by the shot. Deceased, who formerly resided at Belton, was in bad health. He was twenty-eight years old, a widower, and leaves two children.

CONVICT CAPTURED.

Two negro convicts escaped from the Terrell convict farm in the lower end of the county yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock. Officers here were notified and posses went out in quest of them. One negro whose name is given as Roy Davis, was captured by Constable C. L. Baker down by the old powder magazine between ten and eleven o'clock last night. He was brought to town and placed in jail. He is said to be a four year man with most of his time to serve. Mr. Baker says the negro refused to stop, and after firing on him several times, Mr. Baker caught him. The other convict was still at large at last account. He is said to be a tusty.

KILLS WIFE AND SUICIDES.

Tragic Termination of a Visit to Minister's Performance.

San Antonio, April 17.—Returning from a performance at the opera house of Dockstader's minstrels Charles B. Parrott and wife had a quarrel Monday night, which continued until an early hour Tuesday. Parrott then drew his revolver, fatally shot his wife while she was in bed, and, putting a bullet through his head, was soon ushered into eternity. Parrott, who was thirty-three years old, was born at Waco and was well connected, and his wife, twenty-six years old, a native of Mississippi.

TERRITORIES HONORED.

Temporary and Permanent Chairmen
Were Selected From Them.

Louis, April 17.—At the convention of commercial clubs and newspaper editors of the southwest T. W.
Hick of Muskogee, I. T., was chosen temporary chairman.

Committee on resolutions and permanent organization, one member from each state and territory were appoint-

The convention was thrown into an uproar by the reading of a communication from D. B. Thomas of Bonita, Cal., styling himself "Chairman of the Black Movement association." In which he said he represented 500,000
negroes in the United States in rejecting clubs to endorse a movement to deport the colored people of the country to the Congo Free State, Africa. Instantly a score of delegates were on their feet demanding that the communication be tabled. G. R.
Brown, secretary of the board of trade,
Little Rock, Ark., declared that Arkansas needed the negroes, and could not get along without them, and upon his motion the letter was tabled.

Permanent organization was effected, and J. W. McNeill of Guthrie, Okla., was made permanent chairman and Austin Runyan of Kansas City permanent secretary.

Governor Hoch of Kansas made a brief address, in which he dwelt upon the proposed celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the state of Kansas to be held in Topeka in 1911. Gov.
Hoch spoke of the agricultural pride
of the southwest and its vast resource.
He said that the time is coming when the western half of the Union will dominate the affairs of the nation.

Other addresses were delivered by Eymour Riddle of Vinita, I. T., on
"The Agencies of Development and Progress," John O. Fox of Blytheville, Ar., on "Waterways, Rating and Irrigation in the Southwest," and Frank A. Estes of St. Louis, a member of the executive committee of the National Irrigation association, on "Irrigation."

RESULT OF RESISTANCE.

Officers Saved Themselves by Holding Women Before Them.

Mount Airy, N. C., April 17.—As a result of Walter Penn, a negro, resisting and overpowering and disarming
Deputy Sheriff Belton, and Officers
John Samuels, George Long, a negro was killed and the military company
of this place was ordered to the scene of what was almost a riot.

The negroes succeeded in securing the pistols of the officers and fired about twenty shots at them, and the officers only saved themselves by holding negro women between them and the attacking party. The dead negro was shot by one of his own race in the attempt to shoot the officers.

FATAL FROLIC.

Greek, Slav and Italian Laborers Fight
and Two Killed.

Memphis, April 17.—During a free
for all fight at a railroad camp near Gurley, Ark., says a Commercial-Appeal dispatch from Helena, which lasted for some hours, following an Easter frolic between Greek, Slav and Italian laborers, two of the Greeks were killed. Residents were unable to quell the disturbance, and an appeal was made to the officers of this city for assistance. A posse of deputy sheriffs was sent to the camp, and returned. They report everything quiet.

BANK FAILS.

Suspension of an Institution at Shreveport Is Announced.

Shreveport, April 17.—The suspension of the Merchants and Farmers bank for liquidation was announced by its president, A. H. Leonard. Its assets exceed its liabilities in the sum of $169,000, the assets amounting to $687,126, and its liabilities to $518,126.
It announced that the depositors will be paid in full as soon as liquidation can be effected. The bank was organized under the state law of 1871,
with a capital stock of $100,000.

NAMED FOR PROMOTION.

President Nominates Corbin For Rank
of Lieutenant General.

Washington, April 17.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate: Major general, to be lieutenant general, Henry C. Corbin.
Associate justice of the supreme court of Oklahoma, Milton C. Garber.
Postmasters—Arkansas, E. O. Lefers, Bentonville; Louisiana, E. J. Barney, St. Francisville; Texas, Caroline Cotulla, Cotulla.

Humanity and Machinery.

Machinery is the cornerstone of modern society, the very foundation on which law, science, ethics, the arts, even the state itself, rests. It is so new that we do not yet know its poetry. We do not yet understand.
Only two generations have lived beside the highway of steam; only one has seen the Bessemer converter transform the blacksmith into the master builder of ships and towers. The sewing machine, the far speaker, the typewriter, are common things of today, accepted as a matter of daily convenience, and yet are they teachers of the people. Machines that come close to our lives and homes insensibly teach truth, precision, the adjustment of universal laws to human needs, respect for that wise American idea that labor saved is labor released for higher and nobler toil. The machine is the head master of the high school of the race.—Reader Magazine.

REARED AT WACO.

Son of Colonel R. B. Parrott and Spanish-American Soldier.

Waco, April 17.—Charles B. Parrott whose tragic death occurred at San Antonio at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, was reared here and was the son of the late Colonel R. B. Parrott, who was one of Moseby's men and was a leader in public matters here. Charles Parrott made an enviable record as a soldier during the Spanish-American war. He married Miss Lucille Higdon in 1897, she being a daughter of a former resident of Calvert.

It was decided to bury the two bodies side by side here.

ASYLUM ADDITION READY.

Superintendent Turner Says Two Hundred Patients Can Be Received.

Austin, April 17.—State Purchasing Agent Anderson received a telegram from Superintendent Turner of the north Texas insane asylum at Terrell stating that one of the new buildings or additions to the asylum had been completed and is now ready for the reception of 200 white patients. This will serve to relieve the congestion of insane persons confined in Texas jails
for lack of room at asylums.

Office Assistant Attorney General
Lightfoot returned from Fort Worth, where he has been prosecuting further his investigations of the alleged trust
of the Fort Worth Stock Exchange.

Judge Lightfoot declined to discuss what progress he had made, but it is said that important information was obtained by him relative to the so-called trust.

Judge Lightfoot also visited Dallas,
where it is said he is also conducting certain trust investigations, but he declined to state the nature of the trust.

FARE REDUCTION.

Considerable Doubt Whether Commission Will Hear Motion.

Austin, April 17.—There is considerable doubt as to whether or not the railroad commission will hear its motion to reduce fares on railroads. It was the intention of Commissioner Mayfield, when he made the original motion, to apply it to the Houston and Texas Central exclusively. When it reached Mr. Colquitt he wanted to reduce the fares on all railroads. Commissioner Mayfield now refuses to have anything to do with the proposition, deeming it has assumed a political phase.

Judge Storey was willing to hear the original motion as a matter of accommodation, but reserved the right to vote against it if the evidence justified it.

First Case For Years In Protestant Episcopal Church.

Batavia, N. Y., April 17.—The first trial for heresy in years in the Protestant Episcopal church was scheduled to begin here Tuesday, when Rev. Al-gernon Sidney Crapsey, D. D., for twenty-five years rector of St. Andrew's church at Rochester, was to be placed on trial before an ecclesiastical court, charged with utterances from the pulpit of that church and in print to be in violation of the tenets of the Protestant Episcopal faith.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Causes Death of One Man and Injuries
to Five Other Persons.

Philadelphia, April 17.—Robert J.
Weight, a lawyer of this city, was killed and five other persons seriously injured in an automobile accident near Millville, N. J. The automobile collided with a carriage and both vehicles were overturned.

PADDOCK SPOKE.

Secretary of the Fort Worth Board of Trade on "Southwest Empire."

St. Louis, April 17.—Additional delegates to the first annual conference of Southwestern Commercial clubs arrived during Monday night, swelling Tuesday's attendance. The opening address was made by B. B. Paddock, secretary of the Board of Trade of Fort Worth on "Southwest Empire."

Quiet Easter.

St. Petersburg, April 17.—Up to noon Monday no reports of disturbances on Easter were stated.

ATTENTION VOTERS.

Bryan, Texas, April 10, 1906.

Many of my friends having spoken to me suggesting that I become a candidate for the legislature, I think it proper to submit my views on some measures that I would be in favor of having passed by the next session of the legislature of the state of Texas, if I were elected a representative of Brazos county. First, I would be in favor of a law prohibiting the manufacture or sale of any patent medicine in the state of Texas
unless the ingredients of the said
medicine were printed in plain English on the label of said bottle or package, and making the penalty
for the violation of said law, a fine
of not less than one thousand dollars for each bottle or package sold.

Second, I should favor a law by which the state of Texas should engage in the refining or manufacturing of kerosene oil, using convicts as laborers, thereby coming in competition with the great trust of the country.

Third, I should be in favor of a law working short term convicts on the public roads, giving each county the preference of using its own convicts.

Fourth, I should be in favor of amending the probate law of this state so that all estates less than one thousand dollars should be retired from the regular probate docket, thereby saving small estates from being exhausted by costs and expense of court.

Fifth, I should be in favor of a law making it a felony for a witness in a felony case to leave the state of Texas after due process of law had been served upon him, for the purpose of not testifying in said cause.

Sixth—I should be in favor of amending the Terrell election law so as to have primary elections for every officer of the State from governor to constable—blanket primary pure and simple.

Seventh—I should be in favor of submitting an amendment to the constitution and to the people, so as to have elections for all officers every four years instead of two years, and that no officer should succeed himself save the judges of the various courts, and the clerks of said courts.

I should be in favor of a law providing for paying all veniremen
drawn to serve as jurors in capital cases if they, in obedience to summons, attend court, whether they are taken as part of the jury or not, for the time they actually attend court.

THE GHOST OF HAMLET

A Pleasing Musical Comedy Creditably Presented by Local Talent.

A large audience at the opera house last night gave the approval of hearty applause and manifest genuine enjoyment to the production of that pleasing little musical comedy or operetta, "The Ghost of Hamlet," presented by local talent. The play is a cleverly arranged burlesque on two of Shakespeare's tragedies, "Romeo and Juliet" and "Hamlet." With a part of the original text of the two plays is blended in a most unexpected way bits of humor, popular present day expressions and local hits, these boldly interpolating even Hamlet's soliloquy.

The first act presents the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet, and Mr. Sam McConico and Miss Jessie Garth were cast for the title roles and sustained them most creditably. Miss Garth in the balcony was a vision of loveliness, and Mr. McConico's fine, clear voice was brought out all the exquisite sentiment in his solo, "Good-night, Beloved, Good-night."

The second and third acts introduced the garden of Kronberg castle and the graveyard of Elsinore from "Hamlet." In these acts the three leading roles were assigned to Mr. O. E. Saunders as "the melancholy Dane," Mrs. Tyler Haswell as "Ophelia," and Mrs. W. S. Howell as the Queen, mother of Hamlet, while Mr. W. C. Nelson of College starred as "The Ghost of Hamlet," or rather of Hamlet's ill-fated father. All these characters were well represented. Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Haswell had opportunity for some fine emotional acting which was well done—not overdone, as is too often the case with amateurs. Mr. Saunders, who has run the scale from minstrelsy to Shakespeare's limit, trod the boards with grace and ease and spoke his lines "trippingly on the tongue." Mrs. John B. Hines, Messrs. Sam Dunlap, Roy Buchanan, Frank Clarke, T. K. Lawrence and Mr. Larry Stevens gave excellent support, according as opportunity afforded in the remaining parts. Mr. Clarke sang with fine effect, "Sweet Adaline," and Messrs. Roy Buchanan and Sam Dunlap rendered a parody, written by Rev. J. Wendel Davis, entitled "In the Shade of the Old Graveyard Tree."

The costumes were true to the period of burlesqued plays, and those of the ladies especially handsome. The choruses were naturally the most generally pleasing feature, and were effectively rendered. The first was a Gypsy chorus, and in the others the singers were clothed in ghostly habiliments, their spectral forms weaving in the dim light about "The Ghost of Hamlet."

The chorus included Miss Marie Adams, Mrs. Law, Mrs. Haswell, Misses Lavinia McConico, Gertrude Eaves, Elizabeth Crum, Gussie Buchanan, Alma Robinson; Messrs. T. K. Lawrence, S. W. Dunlap, Roy Buchanan, Sam McConico, Frank Clarke, Saunders, Stevens and Nelson. Others also gave assistance from behind the scenes. Individual merit in this instance would be hard to determine, but it is but fair to say that Miss Adams, who led the choruses, used her fine voice and excellent musical training with fine effect.

There were several curtain calls made by the enthusiastic audience which packed the house down stairs, with many in the galleries. The Risser-Keeling wedding party, eighteen in number, occupied two rows of seats reserved for them and marked by white ribbons with cut flowers at the knotted ends.

The receipts will approximate $150, and will be applied as an Episcopal church benefit.

The direction of the entertainment was in the capable hands of Rev. J. Wendel Davis, who had the invaluable assistance of Messdames W. S. Wilson and T. K. Lawrence with the music.

SPRING CATARRH

E. J. Jenkins Sells Hyomei Under Guarantee of Cure.

The changeable weather of spring is directly responsible for the prevalence of catarrhal troubles in Bryan at the present time.

As a result E. J. Jenkins has had a larger sale for Hyomei the past week than ever before in the years that he has handled this reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

If there is a single catarrhal germ in the system, Hyomei will search it out and absolutely destroy it, completely eradicating the trouble. The remedy has made so many cures among E. J. Jenkins' customers that he offers to pay for it himself if it does not benefit even the worst case of catarrh.

The complete outfit costs only $1, consisting of an inhaler, medicine dropper and bottle of Hyomei, while extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c. There will not be even this small expense if Hyomei does not cure, as E. J. Jenkins will return your money.

PROGRESS OF THE REVIVAL
Services Will Be Held at the Courthouse
this Afternoon and Tonight.
Evangelist Martin's theme at the 10 o'clock revival service yes-

christians in bringing souls to Christ. It was based on the scripture regarding the bringing of the paralytic to Christ to be healed.
Especially addressed to christian people regarding their duties and obligations, the discourse made a profound impression. At the close of the service there was one conversion and one addition to the church.
Rev. Hailey preached at a children's service yesterday afternoon with a large attendance. He selected for his subject "The Shep-

sermon last night, and following it there were three conversions and one addition to the church.

the church this morning at 10 o'clock, with preaching by Evan-

PETERS KILLS NEGRO.
Was Attacked by Two Miscreants
While Escorting Young Lady.
Springfield, Mo., April 17.—Leslie Peters, sixteen years of age, shot and killed Ralph Burns, a negro of bad reputation, one of two negroes who attacked him in this city Monday night
while he was escorting a young lady home from a party. The negroes accosted him at the gate of the young lady's home and one of the negroes
fired two shots from a revolver at him, but neither shot took effect. Peters immediately fired four shots at the negroes, killing one and the other escaped. Peters went to the police station and gave himself up, but he was released without bond.
The news of the killing of another negro spread like wildfire throughout the city, and hundreds of people left their beds and hastened to the public square. The militia on guard there prevented any violent outbreak, and after a time dispersed the crowds. It is believed that this killing will tend to increase the feeling against the negroes. People who have been disposed to sympathize with the negroes are incensed at this later attack.
A squad of militia was detailed to guard the home of the young lady whom Peters was escorting when he was attacked.

Woolen Will Wear IN ALL WEATHERS

Argue as they will, one fact remains: Cotton adulterated cloth will neither keep its shape nor wear under any conditions. Pure woolen cloth will. Our Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes are made of pure wools, tested by the wool test, which is the beginning of all

Stein-Bloch Clothes

The only reason why cotton is substituted for wool in mercerized fabrics is to cheapen the goods. A house is no stronger than its foundation. So with clothes. Cheap fabrics mean cheap clothes; and no matter how shrewdly they are tailored, they will be untrustworthy. Stein-Bloch employ no mercerized or cotton adulterated fabrics. Their goods are pure caustic-tested wool, and the clothes made from them wear and keep their shape.

The Stein-Bloch Wool Test

The Stein-Bloch Wool Test consists of a boiling solution of water and caustic potash, the chemical action of which dissolves wool but not cotton. The two samples here shown were originally of the same length. The test proved one to be all wool, consuming the part immersed and leaving only the blackened edge. The other proved to be an adulteration containing a large per cent of mercerized cotton.

Kirschbaum Suits $10.00 $12.50 $15.00

Kirschbaum Clothing Plant is the largest in the world, and these clothes from $10.00 to $15.00 have no equal. Give us a look, we can please you.

Three Roses and Another

By JOANNA SINGLE

Dr. John Dunham knew what he did not want. He could also instantly recognize what he did want when he saw it. These traits had been of use to him in working his way through college, through medical school after that and into a flourishing practice now two years old.

In love as in business it was the same, only the girls he had thus far met were undoubtedly the ones he did not want. Dr. John's black gray eyes were always on the silent quest of an unknown girl the thought of whom he linked with the thought of roses. She did not appear. He was thirty-two and beginning to think he had missed her and was deciding to devote his spare time entirely to rose culture when the no longer expected happened.

In September he went, with a colleague, Frederick Mayne, M. D., to a medical convention in St. Louis. Seated at the formal banquet, he looked up, just across the table, at her! And then he seemed to have always known that she was small and blond, with the sweet delicacy of a pink tea rose, that her head was poised like a flower and that breeding and courage showed in every feature and gesture.

Instantly the thought of her as his mounted to his head like wine, and his look met hers with an intensity that made her eyes droop. He turned coolly to Mayne beside him and said in a low tone:

"Look carefully at this ring on my finger, and don't glare up. I want to ask a question. Who is she?"

Strangely enough, Mayne knew who "she" was.

"Dean Carroll's daughter, Rose," he replied. Then as they both looked up carelessly he continued, "I may as well tell you that I shall try to get her." Choking back a senseless anger, trying to realize that Mayne had as good a right to want her as he, Dunham answered quietly:

"And I may as well tell you that you have me to work against. I shall do my best."

At the reception following John Dunham accosted his old professor, Dean Carroll, shook hands and asked:

"Doctor, please introduce me to your daughter."

"Certainly, my boy—with pleasure. But"—and the old man laughed—"I warn you!"

"It's everlastingly too late, doctor. All I ask of you is not to tell her I wanted to meet her and—not to praise me to her." The serious eyes of the young man checked the old man's smile.

"Upon my soul! I believe you're in earnest!"

"I warn you that I am." Dean Carroll looked Dr. John Dunham over carefully from head to foot. Then he held out his hands.

"I wish you luck," he said slowly. "You're as open now as you were during the four years I knew you at college and in your success since. Your tactics are worthy of a general and victory. Come along. But perhaps you'd like me first to suggest to her that you're a dangerous character?" John laughed contentedly.

"Better than than encomiums."

Rose Carroll met her father's old pupil none the less graciously because he was tall and strong and because the heavy, dark hair framing his handsome face was touched with gray. In fact, he was so interesting that she met him with an armor of protective resistance beneath her graciousness. She was used to easy victories over her admirers, but not anxious, though she was on the alert for her own Waterloo. There was time enough for that.

John began well. While deferential, he was not adoring; while entirely appreciative, he was not insistent in his enjoyment of her society, which he accepted with a sort of seemingly transient spirit of camaraderie that plucked her a little. Several times during the evening he drifted carelessly back near her and watched with amusement Mayne's breakneck endeavor to make use of his time to impress his rather ponderous personality upon the girl. Dunham asked permission to call next day.

He did call and was carelessly entertaining. He let himself go, showing his real self, speaking of his youthful adventures in the west, of his roses at home and leaving a sort of an impression that he was a man into whose life women had entered little and that they were to him a sort of pleasant relaxation from workaday cares.

Rose found herself putting forth unusual efforts to please this man, who was not, as others, apparently in the least subjugated by her charms. He did not stay long, but as he arose to go he unwrapped a long, slender parcel he had been holding, crushed the tissue paper in his fingers and put one perfect white rose into her hand. He laughed down into her eyes.

"I wanted to give you a red one, only"—The significance of his tone and his hesitation made her rise to his throw.

"Only you didn't dare!" she finished for him.

"Oh, I dared," he replied coolly. "but I thought I wouldn't—yet! The best for the last, you know!" And he left her trying to decide whether he meant anything or nothing. As he went out he met Mayne entering with a large florist's box, and during his call he had learned that she was leaving the next day for home. When he reached his office he looked up the northbound trains.

Next morning at 7:55 he walked up to the station. Just around the corner on the platform he saw Rose Carroll smiling at Mayne, who carried her suit case and a great bunch of pink carnations. Before they saw him he stepped back into the waiting room, bought a ticket to the next town north and kept out of sight until the train came in. He swung on the rear platform, while Mayne, triumphant in his moment of favor, put the lady into a seat and bestowed her luggage about her. As the train pulled out Dunham looked from his window in the smoker and beheld the idiotically adoring face of Mayne, who was waving his farewell.

When he had smoked a long black cigar John Dunham sauntered into the next car. About the middle of the aisle he stopped suddenly at a quick exclamation:

"Why, Mr. Dunham!" He looked down and saw, with apparent surprise, Rose Carroll, blushing and smiling. He removed his hat, but made no effort to take the seat which she had cleared for him beside her.

"Miss Carroll! So this is your train—how pleasant! Lovely day, isn't it?" "Won't you sit down?" she asked, a little timidly. And he did and went on talking so carelessly and yet so meaningfully, so brightly and still seriously, that it seemed to her but a moment or two before he looked from the window and stood up. Drawing a slender parcel from his pocket, he unwrapped a single, long stemmed pink rose.

"I must get off here in order to get back to an important case with your father. I only got on to tell you goodbye. Didn't want to interfere with Mayne at the station. I can't compete with this floral generosity," and he laid the rose in her lap, "but this is to remind you that some day I shall bring you that red rose." He was gone, without touching her hand in farewell. She sat gasping—pleased, astonished, half angry, but completely interested. She looked at the pink rose. Then she tossed the carnations from the window and wondered how in the world John Dunham had managed to obtain her promise to answer his letters.

Thereafter Dunham wrote her—not regularly, but when the fancy seemed to seize him—whimsical, vigorous, joyful, masculine letters, wholesomely free from all loveliness. She answered, and sometimes when he was very busy he called her up on the long distance phone in lieu of a letter. Meantime Mayne had sent bushels of flowers, had written ponderously sentimental epistles and heaved many ponderous sighs. Twice he had gone to see his divinity, and on his last call her lack of interest in his elaborate mention of Dunham raised suspicion in his slow but relentlessly logical mind. On his return he sauntered into Dunham's office.

"Morning, old man." "Morning, Mayne. Enjoy your visit?" How the deuce did Dunham know he'd been away? Mayne hazarded a guess.

"Yes, called on Miss Carroll. Write to her, don't you?" Taken off guard, Dunham admitted the soft impeachment and was instantly sorry. Mayne laughed with unctuous amusement.

"Thought you were too astute for that. Bet she's got you going—has me! Stringing you for all she's worth! Practiced hand! Great girl—no end popular. Knows how to do it, Miss Carroll." Dunham's anger rose, but he answered carelessly:

"Look to yourself, Mayne. Guess I can take care of Johnny." But after Mayne went the tide of his anger surged toward Rose Carroll. When he could stand it no longer he went to the phone, closing the door of the inner office, and called up St. Louis and Miss Carroll. After an hour's delay he got her and went straight to the point.

"That you, Miss Carroll? Know who this is? Yes! Lovely spring day! I want to ask you something. Forgive my bluntness, but I must know. Miss Carroll, in your letters and all have you meant everything or have you been playing with me?" A long pause, while he listened intently.

"No, I did not think so—I simply asked. I have not the time nor the temper to play. You will forgive me for asking you? No, I can't tell you what made me think of such a thing. Yes, some day I will. Certainly I believe you! What? May I? May I come this week? Of course I want to! But I can't reach you till Saturday evening and will have to start back Sunday morning. It's a long way, and connections are bad. All right—goodbye—till Saturday!"

At 4 in the afternoon of June 1 John Dunham stepped from his train at St. Louis and went to a hotel to get rid of his travel stains and appease his hunger.

About 7 he emerged faultlessly attired, visited a florist and took a cab to Dean Carroll's stately old home.

Rose came to him in the dim candlelight of the library, a vision in shimmering gray. He had intended meeting her in his usual easy way, but the clamor of his heart and the wine of a certain proud yielding in the glance of her blue eyes swept him into speechlessness. He stood long looking at her, her hand still in his. Then he dropped the small hand back at her side and strode out into the hall.

In a moment he came back and clasped her warm little fingers about the stem of a glowing red rose.

"The red rose," he said simply—"the time for it is now, isn't it?" he questioned quietly, stepping back with his arms straight at his side to look at her. "Isn't it time, dear?" he insisted.

"Yes," she murmured. "I—And as she did not finish, with a sudden longing he held out both his hands to her. "Will you come, Rose?" With the pride of a small queen, Rose Carroll laid her two hands in his.
